“Through their (I C Publishing’s) thoughtful process, they always assured me that my message would remain true to its cause . . . I extend a special thank-you to my publisher, Sheri Andrunyk, and lead editor, Gayle Clarke, who were always available to discuss and make helpful suggestions, and succeeded in creating this finished product that was true to their word, and mine. I couldn’t have done it without you.”

“Without you, Sheri Andrunyk, and the I C Publishing team, this book would have stayed a wonderful set of artwork and great prose in a Word document, not this beautiful book. You possess a wealth of knowledge, integrity, and an understanding sense of the creative process. It was a pleasure working alongside of you and I look forward to continuing this relationship.”

Jenna Stewart, Author, There is This Place, Prose and Original Artwork

“To Sheri, my Publisher, and the entire I C Publishing team, I found your name in a book you had published, and on a whim contacted you expecting a quick conversation and nothing more. I instantly felt that I had made the right choice to call. From the beginning, you saw my vision for this project and taught me so much in the process. Not only did you welcome me as a client, but also as part of your I C Publishing family.

You trusted me when I said I could do my own marketing and design work and, not only that, you took a chance on me to help you with your own projects. I can't thank you enough for your dedication, wisdom, and friendship throughout this process. I have a feeling this is only the beginning."

"In my writing journey to now bestselling author on Amazon for Vitality Knocks I am so grateful for the encouragement and support I have received from Sheri and her team at IC Publishing. Your professionalism and experience in this crazy industry has helped me tremendously. Thank you so much."

Anita Heidema, Author, Vitality Knocks – Short Stories to Enrich Your Soul

"Sheri was exceptional to work with. Her high energy and obvious knowledge of the publishing industry helped guide me through what would've otherwise been a momentous task. She was excellent at making recommendations such as book size, cover colours, fonts, etc., and pushed me appropriately when it was needed. I would strongly recommend Sheri to anyone wishing to publish a book."

Jim Baston, Author, Beyond Great Service

"Sheri provides a truly excellent service. Originally, I C Publishing was hired just to do the e-book using the work already done by a self-publishing company I had previously contracted. However, as she started reviewing the book, she found that it contained hundreds of overlooked errors in the proofreading. She took the time to understand my vision and made many excellent suggestions based on my future plans, including a new cover design. I immediately stopped all work with the other company, and subsequently hired Sheri and her team to do the full package. I am thrilled with the results and her help with promotion is invaluable."
